

July 24, 2006

Health Care

Tracking Surgical Supplies in the Operating Room

by Nell Boyce

All Things Considered, July 22, 2006 · Surgeons sometimes forget to remove sponges and other surgical aids from the insides of their patients. New tracking technology is now being used to help operating-room nurses keep track of the material used in procedures.